DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communications: Application, IDS and priority papers filed 10/19/1999.
2. Claims 1-7 are pending in the case. Claims 1, 6, and 7 are independent claims.

Specification

3. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

4. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;

Art Unit: 2176

(5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

5. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is merely a recitation of claim 1.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

6. A substitute specification in proper idiomatic English and in compliance with 37 CFR 1.52(a) and (b) is required. The substitute specification filed must be accompanied by a statement that it contains no new matter.

Claim Objections

7. Claims 2-5 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claims 2 and 3 recite the same limitations as in claim 1, lines 4-6, and 15-19, respectively Claims 4 and 5 recite the same limitations as claim 1, lines 20-22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

8. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

9. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The lack of a specification in proper idiomatic English renders the claims ^{non}~~un~~-enabled.

Art Unit: 2176

10. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

11. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

12. The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

13. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

14. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Driscoll (USPN 5642502—patented 6/24/1997).

Regarding independent claim 1, insofar as the claims are indefinite, and the specification is unclear, as noted above, the Office interprets the claim to generally recite a method of generating keywords for portions of a document and generating a keyword for the whole document.

Driscoll discloses such a method for generating keywords for portions of a document and generating a keyword for the whole document (col. 5, line 61 – col. 6, line 20). The claims also recite:

“A word table registering section for calculating a registering, in a word table the statistical amounts of the words in the divided data.”

Driscoll discloses such a table in Fig. 9D.

Regarding dependent claim 2, the claim is rejected similarly as claim 1 above. The claim is not further limiting as noted above, and is rejected under the same rationale as its parent claim.

Regarding dependent claim 3, the claim is rejected similarly as claim 1 above. The claim is not further limiting as noted above, and is rejected under the same rationale as its parent claim.

Regarding dependent claim 4, the claim is rejected similarly as claim 1 above. The claim is not further limiting as noted above, and is rejected under the same rationale as its parent claim.

Regarding dependent claim 5, the claim is rejected similarly as claim 1 above. The claim is not further limiting as noted above, and is rejected under the same rationale as its parent claim.

Regarding independent claim 6, the method performing the steps of the device of claim 1 is rejected under the same rationale.

Regarding independent claim 7, the medium performing the steps of the device of claim 1 is rejected under the same rationale.

Conclusion

15. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
